Required test results

- Unofficial, online copies or scanned copies are acceptable only for processing the graduate admission application. The official results will be required at a later stage.
- Applicants are required to demonstrate a certain level of English-language proficiency to participate and be successful in the AUC graduate studies. Language proficiency is evaluated through the international TOEFL, academic IELTS exams or either the Advanced or Proficiency Cambridge Assessment English tests. These tests are offered at numerous locations around the world.
- Graduate applicants who hold degrees from an accredited English-language-only university may be exempted from presenting evidence of academic English proficiency, where at least one academic year of full-time studies was recently completed. This exemption is determined by the Office of Graduate Admissions upon evaluation of the graduate applications and credentials. Please note that applicants to the African Graduate Fellowship must provide satisfactory valid English test results, as exemptions do not apply. Some programs request higher scores; please refer to the cut-off scores and the minimum placement requirements. Important details can be found at <https://catalog.aucegypt.edu/content.php?catoid=37&navoid=1811>.
- Official online TOEFL and GRE test scores should be sent to the AUC institutional code 0903.
- Applicants to the MBA program must have at least three years of work experience and are advised to provide valid GMAT scores (minimum score of 500). While GMAT scores are currently not required, you are highly advised to include them in your application, especially if you are also applying for fellowship support. In the absence of these scores, and if you are asked to submit satisfactory GMAT scores at the time of the interview, please know that final admission will be contingent upon submitting the required GMAT scores.
- Applicants to the PhD program, Master of Arts in economics and Master of Arts in economics in international development programs must submit an official GRE scores report. For the PhD program, GRE scores must be submitted to complete the application prior to departmental evaluations.
- Applicants to the Master of Arts in economics and Master of Arts in economics in international development programs may submit satisfactory GRE scores once they are admitted and early in their first semester, or they will not be permitted to continue in the program. Although both programs allow until mid-April (for the spring semester) and mid-November (for the fall semester) to submit satisfactory GRE test results, please be informed that this allowance is applicable for only the first semester of admission. Registration for the following semester will not be permitted if results are not satisfactory or if they are not submitted before the set deadlines. The sequence of these graduate programs starts only in the fall semesters. However, upon the department's approval and if admitted provisionally, students may start in the spring semesters to complete prerequisite courses.
- Applicants to the Master of Science in finance must submit either an official GMAT or GRE score report to complete the application prior to departmental evaluations.
- Applicants must arrange for official score reports for the GMAT or the GRE results to reach AUC by means of authorized online access. Additionally, applicants should ensure submission of at least a soft copy of the unofficial results as soon as they are available to complete the application for admission evaluations.
- Applicants to the Master in International Management/CEMS need to provide proof of English proficiency. The required cut-off scores for admission to this program differ from those of all other graduate programs. Details can be found at the end of the checklist. Also specific to this program, exemptions from the English language examinations are only allowed for applicants who received a degree solely taught in English from an EQUIS or AACSB accredited institution, if in a country where English is the official language.

For international applicants:

- Complete the Student Data Form.
- Once admitted, two hard copy passport-size photographs should be submitted to the Business Support Unit for student visa purposes.

I confirm that I am responsible for completing the application as indicated.

The cut-off scores and placement of the following tests apply to all graduate programs except the Master in International Management (MIM/CEMS) program.
